Etsy

Etsy is an e-commerce business, started in 2005 and based in New York. It is a global online marketplace where people come together to make, sell, buy and collect unique items. Etsy sells a wide variety of handmade products. The range of products includes jewellery, bags, clothing, furniture, toys and art.

5

The handmade products are made by creative people who are trying to turn their hobbies into a business. The products are individual to the person making them and are aimed at niche markets. Etsy does not have a warehouse, just creative people worldwide, selling the products they have made. Etsy connects these creative people directly with customers who are looking for something special.

10

Etsy charges a low fee to those selling their products on the Etsy website. This is lower than the fee charged by eBay and Amazon to sell on their websites. Most customers spend between $15 and $20. Etsy sells a wide range of products but relies on the diversity offered to differentiate itself from the hundreds of available similar sites online. Etsy targets a specific segment of the market by only selling handmade products on its website.

15

Growth of Etsy has led to challenges for sellers who find it difficult to keep up with demand and at the same time maintain a personal touch. Etsy recently changed its terms of business to allow original designs to be made by someone else so that production of items can be increased. However, this has led to the question of whether the items can still be called handmade.

Extract C*Darwin Film Society and the Deckchair cinema

Darwin Film Society (DFS) is a social enterprise that helps community groups and charitable organisations to show films for fundraising events. It is mainly run by volunteers but does have a small number of salaried employees who oversee the running of the film society throughout the year.

In addition to the fundraising events, DFS set up the Deckchair cinema in 1994. The Deckchair cinema shows films outdoors from April until November each year. The atmosphere is very relaxed, with 250 deckchairs for customers to use. The skies are usually cloud-free and the stars make a great backdrop for the screen.

DFS has a growing membership of more than 1,000 people. Most of DFS's revenue comes from ticket sales and film society members who pay Aus$75 per year. Membership includes free entry to four screenings at the Deckchair cinema, reduced ticket prices for further screenings and priority access to any DFS event. Most membership fees are paid in April and May and are credit sales.

10

Between December and March, the Deckchair cinema is closed and there are no screenings, charitable or special events. However, all other cash outflows need to be paid during these months.

15

Since 2012, environmental protection legislation in Darwin states that all drinks bottles must be labelled to show that Aus$0.10 will be refunded when the container is returned to an official collection point. As part of its ethical profile, DFS provides recycling bins at the Deckchair cinema, where bottles can be collected for this Container Deposit Scheme (CDS). All money raised supports local charities.

20

In addition, bottled water is no longer sold at the cinema to further reduce waste. Instead, customers are invited to enjoy filtered water free of charge from the sales kiosk.

Royal Bank of Scotland on the move

Royal Bank of Scotland (RBS) is to close its largest office in a move which will relocate more than 2,000 employees. The bank will sell its office at Drummond House, Edinburgh and move to its central headquarters outside the city. The move is intended to reduce costs, such as rent.

5

RBS's headquarters will require significant development to accommodate the relocated employees from the Drummond House office. The proposed new site already functions as the bank's central headquarters. An RBS spokesperson insisted that there will be no redundancies as a result of the move.

RBS's headquarters are currently underutilised, especially on certain days of the week, due to flexible working and remote working arrangements with employees. The bank will encourage employees to share facilities and increase flexible working arrangements, including working from home. To achieve this, the site will rely heavily on technology such as Office365 and Zoom, a video conferencing service.

10

Part of the work to prepare the site will include improvements to the restaurant as well as more investment in facilities. It is estimated the move will save around £18m a year.

15

RBS currently employs 12,000 people. It has 1.8 million personal customers and over 110,000 business customers.
